What we do

Energy Economics Research and Analysis

Petroleum Economics is a vital component in the Energy business that informs investment and business decisions. ABIS provides economic modelling and analysis to support our client's decision-making process. Economic Modeling (DEM ©) operations and lifting costs, factors in product price and mimics return on capital invested over a 1, 3- or 5-year period.

Petroleum Engineering

Petroleum Engineering is the primary discipline enabling the overall understanding of the upstream oil & gas business. Covering as it does the physics and the subsurface uncertainties helping to formulate the architecture for a sustainable and profitable (re)development of subterranean energy and mineral resources. The science is as applicable to geothermal energy sources as it is to hydrocarbon reservoirs.
